5	Gender inequality in wages	Community members of all demographics	Forum	Duchesne & Uintah	Men receive higher wages in industries such as the oil and gas field. Women are less likely to be hired for these jobs, ultimately needing to seek employment in nonprofit or human service areas which pay less. Single women struggle most to make ends meet.

As a result, many residents choose to work less than full-time as to retain state benefits for themselves and their families.
